RE: NLRB Notice of Employee Rights

To Whom It May Concern:

The National Labor Relations Board has issued a notice to all employers that as of January 31, 2012, employers must post a notice of employee rights under the National Labor Relations Act at their worksites. Employers must also provide a link to the notice from internal and external websites if used to inform employees of rules and policies.

The poster will help employees and employers better understand the law and avoid misunderstandings. It is similar to other workplace postings that describe workers' rights to a minimum wage, to a safe workplace, and to freedom from certain types of discrimination.

We are sending you this reminder to be sure that the National Labor Relations Board required notices are posted where our members work and request that you inform the stewards at your worksites where the posters and links are located.

Sincerely,
